EXONERATE

15,000 hours, $3M

NCIP works to rebuild the lives of those impacted by wrongful convictions through legal advocacy and support services. On average a case takes 5 years, 1,500 hours, and $3M. NCIP works with private investigators, forensic experts, pro bono attorneys, students, and volunteers to gather evidence and prepare to litigate innocence claims.

EDUCATE

400 hours, $120K

At NCIP, training and education are about creating partnerships, raising awareness about wrongful convictions, and supporting those impacted by injustice. One training, symposia, or event takes 400 planning hours and $120k in costs to further our mission and expand our network.

REFORM

NCIP works to change the criminal legal system by sponsoring and supporting bills that make the law fairer and more equitable. Each year NCIP drafts legislation, advocates for change at the Capitol, and organizes in communities throughout California, totaling 1,650 hours and $160K in costs.
